

identity

Untolled Tales, Ceramic, 10 x 11.5 x 7.5 inches, 2008. Online

Kristine Poole

Santa Fe, New Mexico
www.kristinepoole.com

Untolled Tales is textured with comments said to and about women, including "what she needs is to get laid," "I'd do her," "wanna get screwed" and so on. These words and the attitudes they represent become part of her identity-how others see her and how she sees herself. The constriction of self this way of thinking can create is represented by the choker around her neck. These "tales" often go unspoken and the cost or damage to one's self becomes too much to be tallied.